Better Care. Better Results.

Dear Esteemed Colleague:

As you know, Morrison Vein Institute has been a cutting-edge leader in vein care since we opened our doors in 1998. We were the first of our kind in the Southwest to treat veins with non-invasive procedures. Our aspiration has always been to provide a comprehensive approach to vein care and to educate our community about vein disease. I have worked in the valley for almost 40 years as a physician, and most recently I have reflected on my short-term goals. With that in mind and after thorough consideration for just the right fit for my practice, Morrison Vein has joined Comprehensive Interventional Care Centers (CiC), as of August 2017.

The mission of Dr. Joel Rainwater, Founder and Chief Medical Officer of CiC, is to provide patients with the most advanced medical care available, delivered by skilled and compassionate practitioners in a non-intimidating environment. CiC has provided experienced, pioneering, expertly trained and caring physicians to serve the community for over 20 years.

I and Dr. James McEown are honored and eager to partner in this novel endeavor with Dr. Joel Rainwater and Dr. Karen Garby. We would like to emphasize that your practice will continue to receive continuity of our services, optimization of our contracts, and more notably your patients will continue to receive extraordinary care and outcomes. As with any transition, we anticipate additional changes, but know we value our relationship with you and your patients. Therefore, we are most confident this acquisition will be seamless, and I could not be more excited for the near future.

Most sincerely yours,

Nick Morrison, M.D., FACPh, FACS, RPhS
Founder, Medical Director
